To whom it may concern:

Located in Sacramento, California, Environmental Resources Compliance, LLC (ERC) assists planning, environmental, and construction industry clients with ethical, respectful and transparent government consultation and project implementation while managing compliance and regulatory permitting requirements for tribal, archaeological and biological resources. ERC helps resolve complex environmental projects and create measures or programs to mitigate, document and report on resources. ERC assists clients with navigating through Local, State, and Federal planning, permitting and regulatory compliance requirements, and tribal affairs.

ERC works within the ancestral territory of the Southern Sierra Miwok Nation (SSMN). Professionally, I have been working with SSMN since 2008, while consulting and assisting the SSMN with government consultation and tribal historic preservation pursuant to local, state and federal laws specifically within their ancestral territory in Mariposa and Tuolumne counties. ERC values and supports the factual and substantial evidence pertaining to the tribe's federal acknowledgement and recognition process, as well as the historic properties and tribal resources compliance process within the SSMN's ancestral territory.

Sincerely,
